<title>Resum&#233; of Guan Ming Teo</title>

<meta http-equiv="Content-Type" content="application/xhtml+xml; charset=utf-8" />

<meta name="Description" content="Guan Ming Teo is a Front-side Web Developer specialising in CSS-P (the use of CSS to display the same data for varying formats&#8212;web, print, aural narrators, handheld devices) with a leaning towards accessibility and usability, as well as a by-product of search-engine friendliness.

I am a perfectionist and check thoroughly on any semantics problems, typography problems (a side hobby of mine is the study of typography, and its conversion onto the web,) and trying to think of the best way to find a solution that meets a client&#8217;s needs while being semantically sound and accessible to all users (or, perhaps more realistically, as many users as is possible.)" />

<h2>Work History</h2>

<dl>

<dt>University of Western Australia</dt>

<dd>Web Developer</dd>

<dd>July 2008–Present</dd>

<dd>Cutting up designs, rebranding ASP and .NET web applications, technical client liaison, writing new (and rewriting old) code to WCAG Guidelines 2.0 level AA, documenting and training staff members on development procedures and correct usage.</dd>

<dt>Highway 1 Internet Solutions</dt>

<dd>Front-side Web Developer</dd>

<dd>June 2004–February 2008</dd>

<dd>Performing a range of tasks including site cutups, drawing code to a number of formats (PHP, ASP, xHTML 1.0 Strict/xHTML 1.1 + CSS-P, Accessibility Levels 1, 2, 3 and Section 508) as well as graphical design and site maintenance.

<dd>In my time at Highway 1 I have managed to completely change the processes behind front-side development, from unsemantic tabled layouts to streamlined CSS-P, while researching new methods for progressive enhancement.</dd>

<dt>Echidna Web Design</dt>

<dd>Front-side Web Developer</dd>

<dd>August 2005–November 2005</dd>

<dd>I was the main front-side developer for a short time, performing site cutups as well as quickly designing and skinning each site’s admin section.

<dd>While only working temporarily for Echidna, I began to change the thought processes behind site cutups, how they could achieve more using better, cutting-edge code.</dd>

<dt>Accountants Australia</dt>

<dd><acronym title="Information Technology">IT</acronym> Assistant</dd>

<dd>November 2001–Present</dd>

<dd>Setting up and maintaining a network, updating hardware and software, handling general computer problems (virii, spyware, general configuration/fixing of programs.)</dd>

<dt>Burridge Martial Arts</dt>

<dd>Taekwondo Instructor</dd>

<dd>September 2003–February 2004</dd>

<dd>I was dealing with instructing people of all ages in martial arts, maintaining client relations, servicing client enquiries/issues and basic dealings with signing up new students.

In my time with Burridge Martial Arts I helped develop and trial new methods of teaching students, especially the Little Dragons (ages 3–7.)</dd>

<h2>Computing Skills</h2>

I have a decent-to-strong grasp of the following:

<acronym title="(Extensible) Hyper-Text Markup Language">(x)HTML</acronym> (served as application/xhtml+xml, not as tag soup);

<acronym title="Cascading Stylesheets">CSS</acronym>;

Javascript; and <acronym title="Hyper-text Preprocessor">PHP</acronym>.

With at least an understanding of the following:

<acronym title="Active Server Pages">ASP</acronym>/ .NET;

Java;

<acronym title="Java Server Pages">JSP</acronym>;

Perl;

<acronym title="Structured Query Language">SQL</acronym>;

<acronym title="Extensible Markup Language">XML</acronym>;

Unix platforms;

Windows (2000, 2003 Server, XP); and

Mac OS X.

Other Activities

I am currently studying Shaolin Chowka Kung Fu. I have trained for and received two 2nd Degree Black Belts, one in International Taekwondo Federation- and in World Taekwondo Federation-style Taekwondo. I have also studied Tai Chi, and Japanese-styled swordplay. When not doing any of those, I have a penchant for watching anime (or anything Japanese in general), reading books, writing and listening to music.
